JAVASCRIPT CONFERENCE ARMENIA 2017

December 9, 2017

Yerevan, Armenia: JavaScript Conference Armenia announces its first event-JavaScript Conference Armenia 2017 that is going to take place at American University of Armenia on December 9, 2017. It will bring together many IT professionals and IT companies from Armenia and other countries.

JavaScript Conference Armenia 2017 will include not only lectures and talks, but also many workshops and competitions. The conference is a good opportunity for the participants to obtain new knowledge and broaden their network.

As the conference partners with a number of big IT companies, many IT professionals will have a chance to meet company representatives, learn about their vacancies and get job offers.

About JavaScript Conference Armenia

JavaScript Conference Armenia was founded by four IT professionals: Alexander Adamyan, Rouben Meschian, Gevorg Harutyunyan, and Edgar Marukyan. It aims at creating a strong community of JS developers in Armenia and inspires IT beginners to become a part of it.
